DEFINITIONS

'Health' the World Health Organisation defines health as 'a state of complete physical, mental and social wellbeing and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity.' Health and wellbeing take into account the places people live and the policies that shape their lives, as well as the individual lifestyles people pursue.

'Organised Sport and Recreation' involves participation in fixtured sporting events (e.g. netball/hockey/football) or activities which require the supervision or expertise of an instructor (e.g. aerobics).

'Sport Spaces' provide a setting for formal structured activities. Sport spaces provide a venue for formal structured sporting activities such as team competitions, physical skill development and training. Sport spaces are designed to accommodate playing surface, buffer zones and infrastructure requirements of specific or general sporting activity. Players and spectators attend with the express purpose of engaging in organised sporting activity, training, and competition or watch the game. Most sport spaces can be accessed by community members for informal sport and recreation.

'Recreation' an activity of leisure for free time often done for enjoyment and can be considered healthy, fun and social.

‘Recreation Spaces’ Provide a setting for informal play and physical activity, relaxation and social interaction. Recreation spaces can be accessed by all to play, socialise, exercise, celebrate or participate in other activities that provide personal satisfaction or intrinsic reward.

‘Active Public Open Space’ typically provides for more formal recreational pursuits and organised sporting activities (e.g. ovals, soccer pitches, netball courts). Active spaces within parks may also be hard non-green spaces, such as basketball and tennis courts which are important facilities for physical activity and exercise.

‘Incidental Activity’ includes active play and recreation, for example walking the dog, swimming, walking and cycling for recreation, walking for public transport.

‘Open Space Classification (from DLGSCI)’ based on the function and catchment hierarchy. The function of the space refers to its primary use and expected activities:

- Recreation spaces – provide a setting for informal play and physical activity, relaxation and social interaction.
- Sport spaces – provide a setting for formal structured sporting activities.

‘Nature spaces’ provide a setting where people can enjoy nearby nature and protect local biodiversity and natural area values.

‘Co-Location’ Locating/integrating two or more facilities on the same or adjacent sites.

‘Facility Sharing’ Locating/integrating two or more groups which utilise the same facility and operate under a shared management structure.

Categorisation of Projects:

- Small Grant Projects: Value of total projects up to $300,000. Projects of this scale are usually local in scale, planning is generally simple and does not require a project/facility manager. The annual and forward planning grants are more complex, require greater planning and consideration through the annual budget process.
- Annual Grants Projects: Value of total project costs of between $300,000 to $500,000. Projects of this scale are usually of a district level, require significant planning and project management skills. Clubs engage more closely with local government authorities. Examples – Large floodlighting projects, clubroom upgrades, reticulation systems, and new playing services.
- Forward Planning Category: Are complex projects with total project costs over $500,000. Example: Swimming pool, large synthetic fields, new clubrooms, and leisure/recreation centres.
